DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

The examiner acknowledges the election of species with traverse of species C, however the examiner believes this election is incomplete as at least claims 16-17, 39-40, and 50-52 belong to distinct species including devices/methods including 1, 2, or 3 different configurations of light bundle distribution. The election is therefore seen to be defective. As a courtesy to the applicant the examiner is providing a new restriction and election of species. This restriction requirement should clarify the requirement and allow the applicant to elect a proper invention/species.

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-17, drawn to a device for determining a movement of an eye.

Group II, claim(s) 35-52, drawn to a method for determining a movement of an eye.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The method of group 2 can be accomplished utilizing a materially different device. For example the type of distance determining unit is not necessarily required to include the interferometer as described in the device of group 1.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species A: A device for determining a movement of an eye including a single bundle emitting illumination unit.

Species B: A device for determining a movement of an eye including a two bundle emitting illumination unit.

Species C: A device for determining a movement of an eye including a three bundle emitting illumination unit.

Species D: A method for determining a movement of an eye including a single bundle emitting illumination unit.

Species E: A method for determining a movement of an eye including a two bundle emitting illumination unit.

Species F: A method for determining a movement of an eye including a three bundle emitting illumination unit.

Species G: A method for determining a movement of an eye including a therapeutic beam.

Species H: A method for determining a movement of an eye including a rotating reflective surface.

Species I: A device for determining a movement of an eye including a rotating reflective surface.

Species J: A method for determining a movement of an eye including a linear movement reflective surface.

Species K: A device for determining a movement of an eye including a linear movement reflective surface.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 1 and 35.

4. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The above cited species recite mutually exclusive subject matter including interferometer, optical coherence technology, reflector constructs, strongly dispersive focusing optics, spectrometers, and color-corrected ray bundle forming optics to only name a few of the mutually exclusive aspects of the applicant's recited species. Each of these limitations due to their mutually exclusive subject matter would require separate searches in divergent US Classes/Subclasses therefore constituting a burdensome search.
